

BRIT LIST: 2007

In answer to and inspired by our peers in the US and the wonderful Blacklist, the UK and Irish film community have taken it upon themselves to compile their own list.

This is a most liked and recommended list of unproduced screenplays compiled by over 40 film industry people across all levels of seniority and sectors. To qualify, a screenplay had to:-

- a) be unproduced (not greenlit for production at the time of the list's circulation);
- b) be written by any writer who is non US (by birth); and
- c) have at least 2 votes.

Happily, given our list's title, the skew has definitely been to UK and Irish writing talent, although apologies are given for the political incorrectness of the word "Brit".

Every effort has been made to supply accurate information and apologies are made for any misspelling.
